

view Newcastle Herald's complete view of property.

Home / Latest News

Residents fear lower Hunter is becoming a super quarry for Sydney

By Matthew Kelly
April 26 2024 - 8:00am

0 Comments

They say the five operational quarries (Brandy Hill, Boral-Seaham, Martins Creek, Karuah East and Karuah) and five new proposals (Eagleton, Stone Ridge, Deep Creek, Hillview, and Karuah South) within a 15 kilometre radius present increasing risks to community safety, rural amenity and the environment.

An Environment Impact Statement for a proposal to extend the life of Boral's Seaham Quarry by 30 years to 2057 and almost double its maximum output to 2 million tonnes a year is presently on public exhibition.

In another development, an amended proposal to extract, process and transport up to 600,000 tonnes of hard rock products per year for 30 years at the Eagleton Quarry is also on public exhibition.

The Hunter Community Environment Centre, Eco Network Port Stephens and the Gloucester Environment Group have produced a strategic and conservation planning document for the region's hard rock quarries.

for Quarrying in the Lower Hunter

3 QUARRY Development Applications: Port Stephens,
MidCoast & Dungog

5 QUARRY DA MAP

6 JUSTIFICATIONS

1. Our planning & environment laws are failing
2. Habitat connectivity for threatened species must be retained
3. End-of-life and operational standards are lacking
4. Massive increase in heavy haulage risks community safety
5. Climate risks are absent
6. Demand is assumed to be... infinite?

Download this PDF

3 of 18

Residents want the government to fund and implement the plan.

The plan would help introduce standardised, scaleable cumulative impact assessment and monitoring of social and environmental impacts including traffic, dust, noise, water discharges and vegetation loss.

ADVERTISING

to guide ecologically sustainable, efficient and cost effective provision of materials, and assess alternative sources of recycled housing and infrastructure materials, including gravel and aggregates from recycled coal-ash waste.

Brandy Hill and Seaham Action Group spokeswoman Margarete Ritchie said the rights of the local communities and the environment had been sacrificed for commercial interests of quarry owners.

 Margarete Ritchie

"It is absurd that these projects can be assessed separately when the cumulative impacts they have on roads and the environment is massive," she said.

"We know the quarry industry's lobbying has enormous influence on the assessment of projects, but who is standing up the communities and the environment that are treated as collateral damage."

The Hunter's catchment is the largest in coastal NSW, encompassing an area of 21,500 square kilometres.

significant migratory bird habitats.

Port Stephens contains listed nationally important wetland and the Port Stephens – Great Lakes Marine Park, the Seaham Swamp Reserve and the Grahamstown Dam domestic water supply and catchment.

"Areas of high conservation value providing connectivity and containing climate refugia must be established as no-go zones for greenfield development and expansions, in line with Objective 6 of the Hunter Regional Plan 2041 to conserve heritage, landscapes, environmentally sensitive areas, waterways and drinking water catchments.

Construction workers and unions have flooded the streets of Sydney on October 26 to protest against the use of engineered stone. Footage: Nine News.

Hunter Community Environment Centre coordinator Jo Lynch said current planning laws were failing to protect communities and the environment.

"The lower Hunter is facing more than a doubling of the quarry industry with five newly proposed and five existing operations seeking expansions," she said.

including increased heavy haulage traffic, habitat loss and air and water pollution in the catchment. The proposed Stone Ridge quarry in Wallaroo State Forest falls within a high value biodiversity corridor and has been roundly rejected by community members."

Read More:

What's on this weekend in Newcastle and the Hunter Region

Nuclear's yesterday's technology, with a vintage price tag

Get more from the Newcastle Herald

Our journalists work hard to provide local, up-to-date news to the community:

-  Sign up for our newsletters
-  Follow us on Facebook, Instagram and LinkedIn
-  Interested in court and crime? Join our Courts and Crime Facebook Group
-  Find us on Google News
-  Have your say and send a letter to the Editor

 0 Comments

Matthew Kelly

Journalist

FOLLOW

Matthew Kelly has worked as a journalist for more than 25 years. He has been working as a general reporter at the Newcastle Herald since 2018. In recent years he has reported on subjects including environment, energy, water security, manufacturing and higher education. He has previously covered issues including the health and environmental impacts of uncovered coal wagons in the Hunter Valley, the pollution of legacy of former industrial sites and freedom of information issues.

Loading...

Most viewed

1 All of the photos from Anzac Day services across the Hunter

2 Nuclear's yesterday's technology, with a vintage price tag

3 No respite: Government refuses to commit to funding paediatric clinics

4 'I've been stitched up': Irate accused gunman claims 'there is no evidence'

5 Emotions flow in Lake Macquarie, as Anzac Day ceremonies attract big crowds

6 Alwyn Craig's Vietnam War mates remember a digger nicknamed 'Shorty'

More from Latest News

Man charged after shotgun and ammunition found in ceiling

50m ago

Nuclear's yesterday's technology, with a vintage price tag

1hr ago

Some too plain, some plain ugly: our cities need better buildings

Hey Zomi: Sisters' innovative period solution born in Newcastle

Teenager Littler silences hostile crowd with PL victory

Residents fear lower Hunter is becoming a super quarry for Sydney

Recommended

Recommended by  outbrain

Promoted

Forget Expensive Solar Panels (Do This Instead)

Threequotes.com.au

Promoted

Aussies : $500K Life Cover for Just $6.08/week

Compare Club

Promoted

Neuropathy is not from Low vitamin B. Meet the Real Enemy of Neuropathy (Stop Doing This)

Get the latest Newcastle news in your inbox

Sign up for our newsletter to stay up to date.

Enter your email

Notify me

We care about the protection of your data. Read our Privacy Policy.

AUSTRALIAN COMMUNITY MEDIA

NEWCASTLE HERALD

OUR SITES

SUBMIT

